

90 TMR

The 90 TMR timer range, in electromechanical, digital, twilight and astronomical versions, gives you control over when electrical devices switch on and off, helping you save energy.

The exclusive advantages of 90 TMR range

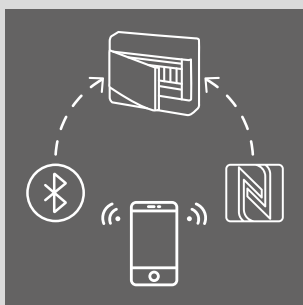

A wide range of options

From electromechanical to digital versions; from twilight switches to astronomical devices, the 90 TMR range is now even wider to meet the needs of any application.

Different functions in one product

With the new time/astronomical switches you can create exactly the program you need, using timed or astronomical settings and change it at any time depending on your need.

Everything at your fingertips

The TimerOn APP gives you control over the digital switches (time and astronomical) using the Bluetooth or NFC interfaces. The TimerOn APP allows you to create connected programs on smartphones or tablets and transfer them to several devices if required.

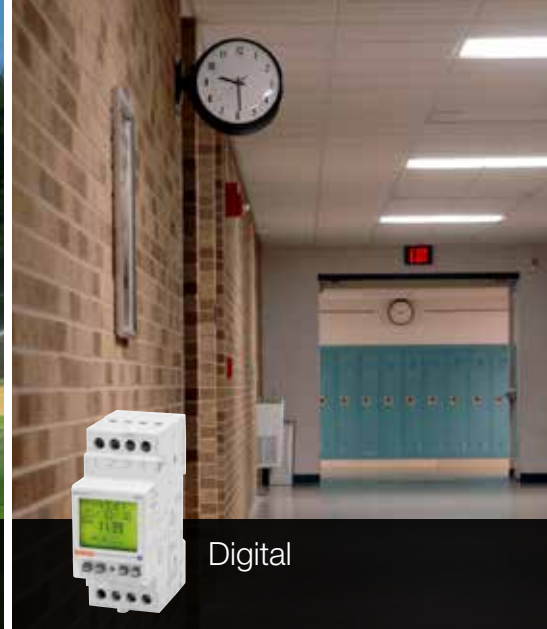

Simple programming

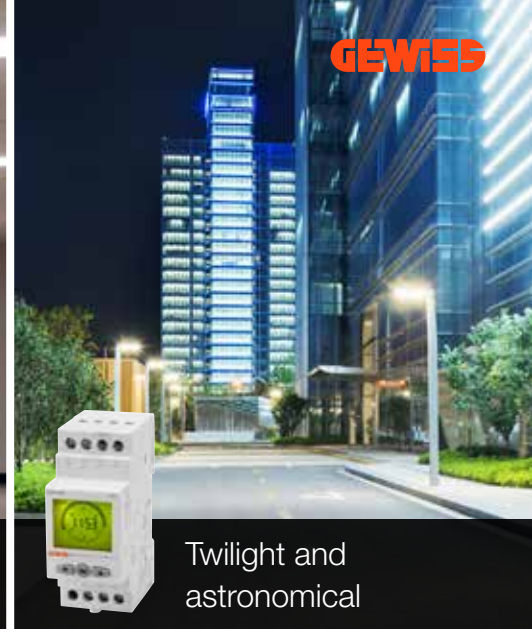

The TimerOn APP allows you to have complete control of the connected programs, acquiring the settings of every device automatically (data, time, coordinates) and switching the ON / OFF status of each contact.
